

THE STYLE CONSULTATION

After your initial consultation with Bowie, you can arrange a time for your first meeting.

At this stage, you will be guided through our couture collection and invited to try on styles that you are inspired by. Bowie will discuss custom approaches that can be made to each dress style; you may feel comfortable in the knowing your wedding dress visions can be met with reality.

Our Pattern-maker will also be on-hand during this first meeting to take specific measurements and make detailed notes regarding your chosen style and customisations.

Once the concept of your dress is designed with measurements taken, Bowie will discuss fabrication, embellishments and accessories with you, advising on suitable elements and signature details.

THE FIRST FITTING

Your dress will then undergo the process from concept of design through to fully structured gown, ready for the appointment of your first fitting.

Our Technical Advisor will assist you in trying on your garment and ensuring that the fit is tailored to your body contours and specifications. Any required alterations will be measured and noted, so that you can be confident in the knowledge that the perfect effect will ultimately be achieved.

THE SECOND FITTING

The second fitting can be seen as the dress rehearsal before your wedding day.

You are invited to bring in your bridal shoes and any accessories you intend to wear with your dress, so that you may appreciate the entire look from head to toe. In placing the finishing details, Bowie will be present to offer personal assistance and professional advice on the intricacies of your garment as you complete your final fitting.

THE COLLECTION

Your dress will be securely stored in our atelier, kept in pristine condition and freshly pressed for collection, which is traditionally two or three days before your wedding. You can contact our office to arrange the most suitable time to collect your dress.
